

Things inside ovals are types, with arrow A->B if type A can contain type B as a member.

Things inside dashed lines are either only allowed in, or most useful within, architecture model files.

